FREE! EVERYONE WELCOME. (BROWN BAG LUNCHES OK)

Participants will learn the basic “nuts and bolts” of the field of public art. The 90-minute webinar will cover some of the unique skills required for art-making in the public realm including an overview of public art and the public realm, project examples, programs, funding, implementation and resources for further study. Two case studies will be presented which explore the experiences of two artists who have transitioned from the studio/gallery to the public realm.

The webinar is suited for administrators interested in better understanding the artists’ experience and artists exploring public art as a profession.

Instructor: Charlotte Cohen, Regional Fine Arts Officer,
General Services Administration, New York, NY

Instructor: Porter Arneill, Director/Public Art Administrator
Municipal Art Commission, Kansas City, MO

Sponsored by The Americans for the Arts.

What Is a Webinar?

Webinars are 90-minute online seminars on a current topic, issue, or trend. This new media platform enables a high level of interaction with the presenter, other attendees, and the content. *To join a webinar, you will need access to high speed internet and a phone line for at least 90 minutes. Some webinars may have advance reading assignments or post event follow-up items. The Artists Coalition provides the tech you bring yourself, something to write with and lunch if you are hungry. No advanced reading is assigned for Public Art 101.
